Doleh parked another vehicle behind the Sebring for that night (so it couldn't be moved), and figured he'd look for the key the next day. Doleh wasn't able to find the key on 9/28/11, so he had the Sebring towed to Expressway Dodge so they could make and program a new key for it. Employees for Expressway Dodge remember seeing it being unloaded from the tow truck on the evening of the 28th. They didn't make the key until the evening of the 29th, and an employee didn't notice the Sebring was missing until he took the key out into the parking lot to program it but wasn't able to find the vehicle.
