Officers made contact with both subjects inside. The male subject spoke to Officer Vancleave in the hall, and I spoke to the female inside the room. The female stated that she and the male subject got into an altercation because he believed that another male was sending her text messages. The female stated that the male became angry and placed his hands on her and held her against the wall. She stated that when he held her on the wall it caused her to hit her head. The female stated that she was attempting to get away from the male and scratched his face. The female stated that he let her go when she told him that the office was on the other side of the wall and she started yelling for help. The male stated that the altercation started because he was trying to leave to catch the bus and return home so he could go to bed and the female thought he was going to see another female. The male said that the female got mad at him and started grabbing his belongings from him and scratched him in the face. The male subject did have a scratch on the left side of his face. The male subject was placed in custody and transported to VCCC because the female had an active protection order against him. Neither subject was adverse about pressing charges on the other, but the male said if the female presses charges on him then he was going to press charges on her. This was not a domestic relationship due to the subjects not living together, and not having children in common. According to the male subject he and the female were just friends. He said that the female had not lived here for about six months and had just returned two days earlier and called him and asked him to come over to this location.
