Reported: 05/31/2015. The reporter phoned police regarding her pants being pulled down while she was standing in the office at Woodcreek Apartments on Old Business 41. The reporter told me she was in the office getting a flyer for an upcoming event, when the general manager (offender) grabbed her pants and pulled them down. She states they were not having an argument but couldn't remember what they were talking about. Her boyfriend (the witness) was also present in the office and stated the same occurred; however, he added that there was conversation between them and indicated there was some banter. Both the reporter and her boyfriend said there was video in the lobby which would have recorded the incident. The female wished to file a police report. She states the manager has touched her before inappropriately. She also added other females in the complex have complained about the manager touching them. Everyone in the hotel complex seemed aware of the situation. Several unidentified people approached me about the incident. A man told me that the reporter flipped off the offender, which prompted him to "pants" her. Another male told me that the reporter and the general manager kid around all the time and that the incident was all a game. I stepped inside to speak with the offender who was still in the office. The general manager said he and the victim kid around all the time with each other; however, today she decided to get angry about the incident. The offender said he ran the reporter to the store two times yesterday; and, that they have never had an issue until today. Today, he said he was telling the reporter that she was behind on rent when the two started kidding back and forth. He said she flipped him off and he grabbed her pants and barely tugged when her pants went all the way down. He said this was not intentional. There is video of the lobby. The manager said the area where the incident occurred would not have been captured.		BROWN, S. E.

The victim said she went inside to speak with the child's father, when the mother followed her into the home. At this point, the father refused visitation and an argument ensued. The father advised the mother returned the child last night when she was supposed to have the child until this evening. He did not allow the mother to take the daughter since her actual visitation time was ending on Sunday night. Both the father and the girlfriend explained that the mother became very angry and began bumping up against him while shouting and cursing. The victim said she tried to hand a bag of clean clothes to the woman from behind the male, when the woman slapped at her hand and arm knocking the bag of clothes to the ground. The victim did not complain of any pain, but says she is growing increasingly scared of the woman due to her behavior. She wished to file a report. First Avenue (Target) for a theft report. The victim, Barbara Garwood, advised someone had taken her purse from the parking lot. Upon arrival, I spoke with Garwood regarding the incident. Garwood advised she was parked, facing north in the parking lot. She unloaded all of her items from her grocery cart into the trunk of her vehicle, a black Monte Carlo SS. Enroute to her home, she realized her black purse was not sitting in her passenger seat. She thought that she may have placed the purse in the trunk with the items she purchased. Upon arriving home, Garwood was unable to locate the purse in her trunk. She called dispatch and returned to Target to file a report. Garwood told me she unloaded all of the items from her grocery cart into the trunk of her car and left the trunk open. She observed an employee collecting carts near the entrance of the store. Garwood decided to push the cart closer to the employee so he would not have to retrieve it from the cart return. Upon returning to her vehicle, Garwood closed her trunk and left. Garwood believed somebody must have followed behind her and removed the purse from her trunk when she pushed the cart to be picked up by an employee. I made contact with Target Loss Prevention Officer Nick Ebertz inside the store. Ebertz advised he had already reviewed the video of what happened. I watched the video and observed that Garwood had not placed the purse into her trunk, however, she had left it in the cart prior to leaving the store. The purse was left unoccupied in the cart. Afterward, a red or maroon 4-door Chrysler Sebring with black tires and rims pulled up next to the grocery cart with the purse. A white male exited the vehicle, retrieved the purse, and drove off the lot in a hurry. The video quality was not good enough to retrieve the registration plate but it appeared to be a "In God We Trust" plate. I asked Ebertz to create a disc of the video so it could be retrieved by EPD Crime Scene. Garwood advised the purse was leather and black. It contained approximately $200 cash, (10) credit cards/debit cards, a check book, operators license, insurance cards and keys. I instructed Garwood to cancel all of her cards and to notify her bank of the breach. She was provided a case number and advised to contact EPD Records if anything else needs to be added to the report.		BREWER, J. W.
