During the search of the subjects officers located suspected methamphetamine and suspected synthetic cannabinoids. The field test of the suspected narcotics revealed that the suspected narcotics were in fact synthetic cannabinoids and methamphetamine. While enroute to VCCC Neugebohrn stated that she was planning on selling the narcotics to make money to pay her bills. When asked if she was dealing the narcotics she said yes. Due to Neugebohrn`s admission that the narcotics were hers and her plan to sell them, she was charged with dealing methamphetamine, and dealing synthetic cannabinoids. LW 152228 Robbery - Armed With Deadly	Officers were dispatched to a 911 hangup in the 1600 block of East Illinois. Upon arriving, Officers found the victim to be carrying a knife with her. After ordering the female to drop the knife, Officers identified her as Nice Tsianguebeni. Tsianguebeni says that she lives with her boyfriend, who is also the father of her child. She claims that the two were at home watching television. The TV they were watching is in the bedroom of their home, and the victim was lying on the bed in that room watching it. She says her boyfriend was watching the same TV, but was sitting in the living room and watching it through the doorway. She states she accidentally hit a button on the remote which caused the channel to change. This caused her boyfriend to become upset and tell her to change the channel back. They then began to verbally argue, which is when the suspect claimed that it was his bedroom and he was coming in there. The victim says at this point she became more agitated and stood up off the bed and flipped the box spring and mattress up against the wall. This further agitated the suspect, which is when he then approached the victim and pushed her into the dresser in the bedroom. The dresser had a candle on it which was lit, and the impact of her being pushed against the dresser caused the hot wax to spill on her. She states the suspect found this to be funny and began laughing at her. The verbal argument continued until the suspect then approached the victim and punched her with a closed fist on the left side of the head causing pain. The two then began to wrestle, and the fight spilled over from the bedroom into the living room where the suspect was then able to place the victim in a headlock and banged her head on the floor several times. After a struggle, the victim states she was able to break away and retreat to the bedroom, where she hid behind the box spring and mattress which was still standing up against the wall. She then attempted to call 911. When he heard her calling, he came in the room and she hung up the phone. He then began punching the victim again and threw her on the ground where he kicked her and bit her. She states at this point he walks into the bathroom and vomits for an unknown reason. When she sees the vomit in the bathroom he then turns and backhands the victim across the face. He then tells her that he has family in town and that if she goes to the police that he will kill her, which caused her to feel scared for her life even more than what she already did at the moment. At some point the suspect becomes distracted, which is when the victim is able to grab a knife from the kitchen. She then ran out of the front door and ran to the neighbors house on East Illinois and began banging on the door. This is when the suspect runs to the victim's car parked out front of the home and drives away in it. She says nobody answered the door that she was knocking on, so she ran and hid in some bushes around the corner. This is when she saw lights from a car that she believed to be the suspect coming back for her. She claims she then began to run away until she saw the spotlight turned on her and heard Officers ordering her to drop the knife and she realized the police had arrived. Crime scene was contacted and photos were taken of apparent bite marks on her shoulder and forearms, as well as knots on her head. The suspect was unable to be located and the victim was given a case number, as well as informed how to get help and go about pursuing criminal charges.	Martin, Joshua James (W M, 19) VICTIM of Robbery - Armed With Deadly Weapon Or Bodily Injury (C), at 724 Se Second St, Evansville, IN, between 03:45, 10/06/2015 and 04:02, 10/06/2015.
