Crisis Intervention-immediate Detention	Consumer has been attending school at the university of Alabama. Consumer has anxiety problems and is prescribed xanax. Consumer is supposed to see a therapist but cancelled it tonight and has made suicidal statements recently. Consumer has decided to drop out of school and wants to get a job. The consumer has family that drives for UPS and asked if they would give him a referral for a job and they said probably not. This upset the consumer and he told his mother he was going to go there and get a job and rub it in moms face. The consumer stormed upstairs and slammed the door. The father does not want him shutting the door because he has had problems and the consumer has a lot of prescribed drugs in his room. The consumer refused to open the door so he pushed it in. The consumer and father argued and then the father left. A little later the consumer came downstairs with a handful of xanax pills in his mouth and tried to get a drink of milk out of the kitchen to swallow them. The mom stopped the consumer and made him spit them out. The mother thought he spit all of them out but Officer Slaton stated the consumer appeared a little uneasy on his feet and might have swallowed a few xanax. Officer Slaton asked him if he had ever tried to hurt himself in the past, if he wanted to hurt himself now, and if he wanted to kill himself now and the consumer replied yes to all of them. The consumer was transported by AMR 0445 to Deaconess Hospital for a CIT.
