He asked her if she had a ladder, and she said she did have one in the garage. She went to open the garage and there was another man he said was his son. She said the two wanted to fill a bucket with water to test the gutter. The man seemed to keep trying to distract her. Finally the older man sat her at her table and asked her to write down her information. She believes as he did this she now knows the other man came around to the now open front door and he went into the bedrooms where he found the various jewelry of both victims.
