Officers were dispatched to the 1300 block of Olive in reference to a white male screaming and cussing in the street. Officers arrived and located the offender, later identified as Thomas Sullivan, screaming in the street outside of 1326 Olive. Sullivan was agitated and advised officers that he was the savior who was sent by God to save us all. Sullivan was asked several times to remain quiet and go inside, but he insisted that his family come home. Again, officers had to tell Sullivan to stop yelling and to go inside, however, he did not. At this point, the resident at 1318 Olive, who originally called in the complaint, was outside of her residence due to Sullivan being loud. Force was used to place Sullivan into custody. Officer S. Toney located a small plastic baggie (F/T positive for THC; F/W 3.4 grams) in the watch pocket of Sullivan's jeans.
