The offender ran to the cab and got in saying he needed to get out of here. The victim and the involved other ran after the cab and got the driver to pull over. They said they then opened the door and pulled the offender out of the cab and began pulling items out of his pockets and onto the ground. They pulled not only the victim's stolen wallet of the offender's person, but the offender's phone and wallet, too. They said they just gathered everything up off of the pavement and took off, as people began phoning police and shouting at them. The offender was obviously under the influence of an illegal substance and was difficult to understand. He had difficulty holding his eyes open and had slurred speech, in addition to being unsteady on his feet. The offender said he was robbed, but that he didn't know if anything was stolen. He was somewhat uncooperative and kept telling officers that he needed to leave and needed no medical attention. He had a small amount of bleeding coming from his mouth. He repeatedly said he didn't know if anything had been taken from him, but he thought his items may be laying in the parking lot where a cab pulled over. His story didn't make much sense, but he claimed that he was out and saw his friend "J" around the corner at Little Caesar's and decided to get him food. He then stated that after he got "J" food, he got into a cab and another male he didn't know jumped in the cab with him and accused him of robbing them. He said the next thing he knew was that he was being slammed on the ground and beaten up by "J" and the stranger. The offender kept asking officers to go across the street and look for his phone and wallet. He also kept asking officers to call his mom because he was supposed to be at her house twenty minutes ago. He denied being on anything, but kept saying he was just hit in the head. AMR arrived and he refused medical attention. There was a witness who observed the cab driving away and the victim and involved other following it. The witness saw the two males pull the offender from the taxi and began "roughing him up." The victim did not wish to pursue charges, but wanted the offender barred from his residence and tattoo shop. The victim and involved other turned over the offender's property to Officer Gibson. It was then returned to the offender. The offender was informed of the bar/ban and released, but he then went to Legend's Bar on S. Weinbach. The bartender asked the offender be barred from there, as well, for begging and loitering in their establishment. There was also a male patron in the bar who advised he had his watch stolen by the offender.	SEDORIS, S. C.
