Reported: 02/10/2018. The Victim stated her boyfriend hit her head against the wall and choked her tonight during an argument. Items were thrown around the bedroom which she stated was mostly done by him but also by her. Her only injury was a complaint of pain to the back of her head but she did not want medical attention. The two subjects do not live together, are not married, and have no kids together. The Victim was very intoxicated and difficult to get information from. The Suspect was cooperative and able to speak clearly. He stated the Victim was angry at him over a phone conversation he had with the mother of his kids. She started drinking heavily and became belligerent. He said he left for awhile to let her calm down but when he returned she had torn up the house. He stated she only called 911 after he threatened to call on her if she did not calm down. While I was speaking with the Suspect outside the female called dispatch back and stated the Suspect had her trapped in the bedroom. She was standing in the hall while making this call. I asked her about this and she stated he was downstairs which made her feel she couldn't leave even though he hadn't stopped her from leaving	GREEN, R. E.
