Upon arrival, I met with the father of the family. The father explained to us that his step children, T.W. and M.W. got into an argument over possession of a pair of shoes. This is when M.W. got mad and started throwing things at T.W. The father pointed at a rounded frosting spreader and claimed this was the knife that M.W. threw at T.W. The father further explained that the children have been horrible and DCS has been involved in several in-home visits and did not know what to do anymore. We asked where the mother was currently at. The father stated that the mother locked herself in her bedroom because she could not handle it anymore.We made contact with the mother and asked her what occurred. She stated that M.W. have been behaving poorly, have been using inappropriate language, and has even killed animals inside of the home. I noticed that the house was in poor condition. There were household cleaning chemical containers on the kitchen floor in the children's reach, rotten and spilled food all over the kitchen and in the family room floor, prescription drugs out in the open and on the family room floor and several sharp objects to include scissors, pens, and silverware on the floor. Furthermore, I also identified several large black trash bags covering most of the walking space in the kitchen and I asked the mother what they were there for. She told me that the bags were full of clothes needing to be thrown out due to the fact that they are infested with head lice.I asked the mother why the house was in the condition it was in. She told me that the children have destroyed the home. She also went on to say that DCS would not take the children from the home. She stated that she cannot handle the children behaving the way they are now. We informed the parents that they needed to contact DCS on Monday to continue figuring out the solution to the problem. We told the parents that we would file a CHINS report on this matter. |   | EAGLESON, R. C. |
