Two of them were siblings. They all said they lived in the Arbors, but did not know their addresses. They also did not know their parents names. The reporter stated he watched them fill up a plastic grocery bag with candy while the were inside the store, and then they exited without paying for it. They also had another bag of candy with them that they stole from the Family Dollar before coming to Walmart. I drove the juveniles to the Arbors and stopped in the 3500 block of Jackson. That's where one of the juveniles' mothers approached my vehicle. She said she had been trying to find the kids for two hours. I told her she should've called the police. She got a hold of the two other kids' mother, and she met me at my vehicle as well. Both parents claimed the kids only said that they were going to the store to buy something since one of them had a single dollar to spend. I released the juveniles to their mothers.	HELM, J. E.
