LW 1810109	Traffic-accident Hit&run /prop [bm]	He said he has had multiple issues with her in the past. He said he then left to try to go get some work done for his business and she followed him in her car. He decided to go back home if she was going to cause issues again. When he got home, he began recording her again. At this time, he said the female said she would "kill his family" which he said he repeated for the recording. He said at this point she approached him and he told her to stay out of his yard. She came into his yard and attempted to grab him on the shirt, so he pushed her away and leg swept her. She fell into the street and left. This is when he called 911. Officer saw no visible injuries to the male. Officer then went across the street to interview the victim. She stated she noticed the male recording her from across the street. She said she did not say anything to him at this time. She left shortly to pick her son up and returned home. She was sitting in her car with her son and noticed the male was again recording her. She said she told him to stop recording, because her son was there. She said he then made a comment about killing her family. She said he did not stop, so she walked over to him and into his yard. She said she was just wanted to confront him, but was not aggressive. She said as she approached him, he pushed her to the ground. This is when she left and called 911. Officers observed both of the females knees were skinned and bloody. She also stated she had a previous injury on her chest that the gauze came off of during the shove. She refused medical treatment. The case number was given to both parties and advised to follow-up with the prosecutor's office. Both were also informed how to obtain a protective order.	HENRICH, M. R.

Case #	Description	(A)ttempted, (C)ompleted, (F)elony, (M)isdemeanor	Officer

Officers were dispatched to a domestic violence in progress. A neighbor called stating a male was dragging a female by the arm and had gone back into the house. The victims daughter also called 911. When officers arrived in the area, a female flagged officers down. She was in a state of panic and told officers she believed the offender may have still been in the house. Officers walked to the house and tried to make contact, but no one answered the door. Officers cleared the house and found no one. It is believed the suspect left in his pickup truck. Officers were not able to locate the suspect in the area.

Officers interviewed the victim who said her husband beat her up. They married at the beginning of April and he moved in about a week ago. She said today he was about to leave and she asked where he was going. She said he blew up and started pushing her. The altercation moved from the living room to the kitchen, where he put his arm around her neck. She said she felt like she was being choked. He let her go again started pushing her very hard again. He pushed her into the bathroom and onto the floor. The victim said he had a knife at one point and said he was going to kill her and her daughter. He also said he was going to gut them. She said she was able to get the knife from him, but he retrieved another one from the kitchen. She was able to get out of the back door, but he followed her out. He pushed her violently to the ground, causing her to scrape her face against the ground. At this point, her daughter helped her from the back yard and they walked a few houses down. She told officers she was so scared she urinated herself during the altercation. She also said she is in fear that he will come back and kill her.

Due to the victims apparent injuries, an ambulance was called. The victim complained of pain in her left ankle, which was causing her to limp. She had abrasions to the right side of her face, as well as a contusion under her right eye. She had mild redness around her neck, an abrasion on her chest, and scratches on both arms. She was checked out by ambulance personnel before she signed a release and refused treatment.

The victims daughter witnessed some of the altercation and gave a statement to officers. She stated that an argument started in the living room about something that occurred the other night. Her step-father started pushing her mother violently. Her mother left to the kitchen and he followed. When they got in the kitchen, he put his arm around her neck from behind and was choking her. He grabbed a knife and was threatening both of them, saying he was going to kill them and gut them. He also said "I'm going to kill both you bitches!" After this he pushed the victim to the floor a couple more times. She told her mother to go out the back and she was able to go out the front. She circled to the back yard and saw him push her mother to the ground, causing her to rub her face on the ground. She was able to help her mother up and out of the area. She was not injured, but was in fear for her life due to the threats made to her.

Both parties were given a case number and a Notice of Victim rights.
