

Body count

Several Democrat 2020 presidential candidates' desires for the Oval Office are dead.

Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY) terminated her chances in Youngstown, Ohio recently, lecturing a woman about white privilege. She answered the woman's question with racial hyperbole, when the woman's plight was economic (manufacturing left Youngstown during the Obama administration).

Beto O'Rourke killed his campaign in his recent appearance on the View, again launching a personal attack on his own character. His continued self-immolation is unprecedented.

Sen. Cory Booker (D-NJ) demolished his White House opportunity at the first Democrat debate, when he attempted to upstage Beto O'Rourke's comments in Spanish by quoting Che Guevara in Spanish.

At a recent rally, Joe Biden ended his perpetual thirst for the White House by answering a question about China from a reporter. His confused, disconnected, completely unintelligible response to the question was total gibberish.

He has also exhibited, repeatedly, that he has no principles; he'll say whatever you want him to say. And he confuses himself, and others, at every opportunity. Sorry, Joe, it's over.

New darlings of the Propaganda Press

The 'Squad'

Four radical Democrat congresswomen, known simply as the "Squad," are embroiling DC in controversy and loved by media, who seem to worship them.

They unabashedly show their disgust for America and what she stands for. Their "rage" against America as founded stems from earlier progressives who sowed the seeds of hate. That anti-American agenda goes all the way back to the 1960s and before. Stalinist mannerisms they exhibit illustrate this well. Memory turns up "pastor" Jeremiah Wright and other mentors to Barack Obama, including Bill Ayers. Obama's own radicalism and dislike for this nation mirrors that of the now infamous congresswomen, whose vitriol splashes every outlet in the press. Their eager media sycophants simply can't get enough of the Squad's socialist and racist rhetoric.

In the case of Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez (D-NY), seeds sown by Lenin, Stalin, Alinsky and other socialist mentors feed her desire for tyranny and excuse her ignorance. For another member of the Squad, Rep. Ayanna Pressley (D-MA), it is black power activism and radical black separatism that propel her radical extremism. Both women have been taught to hate their nation and those who oppose their ideology from a very young age.

For Rep. Ilhan Omar (D-MN) and Rep. Rashida Tlaib (D-MI), devout Muslims, their animus against the United States comes from radical Islam. This is the huge elephant in the room that all of media (even Fox) is afraid to acknowledge. But it is newsroom and opinion desk law that one not speak negatively about Islam. Simply listen to what they say about Jews and the West, and the support these women express for Iran, al-Qaeda, the Islamic State, and other Islamist terror organizations. Omar exhibits her loyalty to Sharia law and Islamism by her insistence on traditional head coverings and her spiteful pronouncements

(not just the anti-Semitic outbursts against Jews). Tlaib shows her disrespect for America, its culture, heritage and values, by her unwavering support for Hamas, Hezbollah and the BDS (Boycott, Divest, and Sanction) anti-Israel movement. Omar has even sponsored a bill in Congress, the "BDS Resolution," in support of BDS. Omar and Tlaib share a hatred for all things Israel and its very existence, comparing Israel to Nazi Germany. Their solution to the conflict in the Middle East is that Israel ceases to exist.

Ocasio-Cortez called Trump's recent rally in North Carolina on July 17 a "dangerous threat" and a "physical threat to people of color." She calls other people's speech "violence." People who oppose her radical socialist ideology are supposed to listen to her, shut up and obey. That demand is also practiced by the other three Squad members, Pressley going so far as telling blacks that they must act and speak "black," and that brown people must act and speak "brown" – or shut up. Pressley demeans and disrespects all people of "color" who wish to reach for the American Dream and live the "pursuit of happiness."

These women say they abhor violence, as leftists usually do, yet their surrogates deliver the very violence they denounce. This violence is practiced and vehemently delivered through their on-the-street enforcers: Antifa and Black Lives Matter. Follow the chaos in Portland, Oregon by Antifa and the devotees of these four radical, anti-American women, and you'll get the picture.

The Squad is now the brain trust of the New Democrat-Socialist Party, their actions to transform our nation speaking volumes. In reality, these radical congresswomen should be known as the Sisters of Sedition.

We Be People

Patriotism is NOT Racism

When President Trump became involved in an internal squabble in the Democrat House between Speaker Nancy Pelosi and the four “women of color,” also known as the “Squad,” he opened himself up to more attacks by the press, as he expected.

The comments in his tweets didn't refer to the racial identities or ethnicities of the Squad members (one Latino, one Pakistani, two African-Americans). He referred to the content of their character and their hatred for our country. But that's not what the press portrayed and not what the “women of color” wanted. They called the tweets “racist.”

Of course, the Propaganda Press was gleeful, eager to once more proclaim that Trump was a racist, attacking “women of color.” This was another chance to shout, “Trump's a bigot! Trump's a racist!” Vitriolic, dripping accusations permeated the press for a week and continue, unabated. On CNN, the word “racist” (referring to Trump) was uttered 1,100 times in one day – the day after Trump's tweet about the Squad. CNN misquoted Trump about “sending them back,” but context is no longer important in journalism. Donald Trump doesn't deserve context.

Pelosi jumped in to defend her rookies – the four radical “women of color” – calling President Trump racist for his tweets disparaging the radical anti-Americans. “To do anything less would be a shameful betrayal of our values,” she said. “We speak truth to power.” But she doesn't speak truth and has no “values.” She lied for her “Squad,” who then turned around and called her a racist!

Trump's genius is that he got involved in the Pelosi-Squad conflict on purpose – to make these four radicals the “face” of the New Democrat-Socialist Party. He made them the issue and took the names of the 20-odd Democrat 2020 presidential candidates off the front page.

President Trump is a patriot and loves our nation dearly. He focuses on what he perceives as harmful to our country. And he knows the ideology of these radicals is dangerous. What they believe is antithetical to our Founding and defies our Constitution.

He's a patriot, not a racist.

An open borders, non-profit racket

‘Render unto Caesar...’

Several years ago, I came upon research from a reputable organization (which was subsequently lost in a computer upgrade) that revealed large, well-established religious groups within the U.S. provided support and encouragement to illegal aliens. The largest were tied to major religious denominations; the depth of funding by our government was substantial and shocking.

Michelle Malkin has given us an update on the racket, now more radical with progressives in these organizations actively promoting open borders anarchy and violation of U.S. immigration law. They demand the abolition of ICE and an end to the DHS.

On July 12 in Aurora, Colorado dozens of protesters from Lights for Liberty desecrated the U.S. flag flying outside an ICE detention facility. They then raised a Mexican flag on the property, in defiance of U.S. sovereignty and law. Denver7 News tweeted out a plea from the Aurora Police, asking for help in finding the ICE protesters.

It was shocking to see a Mexican flag flying over an ICE facility in Colorado. More disturbing, however, was the revelation that one of the top supporters for the nationwide protests by the radical, ICE-hating Lights for Liberty was the “non-profit” religious organization, Lutheran Immigration and Refugee Service (LIRS).

Malkin noted, “As a designated ‘host,’ LIRS played a role in publicizing, organizing, and participating in demonstrations against... deportation enforcement actions” involving some 2,000 illegal aliens “who have ignored removal orders or skipped out on court hearings.” These aliens have exhausted their legal options to obtain asylum and have been denied refugee status, receiving court orders for deportation. LIRS and other radical groups are attempting to stop that court-ordered procedure, a federal felony. A Lights for Liberty handout stated they are “proud to be a member of the #DefundHate Coalition,” to abolish ICE and thwart Trump's enforcement of immigration law, and listed LIRS as a host. In their hatred of CBP and ICE agents, LIRS was joined by other radical leftist “hosts”: Code Pink,

CAIR and CASA, to name just a few. The protesters in Aurora chanted, “Close the concentration camps!” as they held signs that read, “ICE = Gestapo” and “Free the People, Burn the Camps.”

It's not surprising that the LIRS president and CEO, Krishanti Vignarajah, is a Sri Lankan refugee and former Michelle Obama policy director. She says Americans have an “obligation” to open the southern border and adamantly rejects what she calls “militant border enforcement.” Who pays for the radical open border activism of LIRS? The very American taxpayer who wants immigration law enforced and voted for Donald Trump to do just that.

In 2016, LIRS received $64.7 million in federal government subsidies – fully 96.2% of its budget. And LIRS is one of nine agencies that receive millions of taxpayer dollars to resettle “refugees” from anywhere. Together, the nine rake in approximately $1 billion yearly. LIRS brags that it has worked with the State Department to import “over 500,000 refugees” to the U.S. And, purely by coincidence, a famous client of LIRS is none other than Somali-born Ilhan Omar, a radical Islamist Democrat congresswoman from Minnesota. LIRS and the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops are the two largest “social services and benefits” organizations. And now, LIRS has launched a new initiative, further hampering federal law enforcement actions: the “United Sanctuaries of America.”

When a so-called religious organization promotes the desecration of the U.S. flag and backs the prominence of a foreign flag above our own, frustrating the enforcement of U.S. law and endorsing illegal activity, it is a secular organization, no matter its compassionate pretensions.

Lutheran synods, organizations, and congregations need to distance themselves from this secular-progressive group.

Enough!
