	passed out in the driver's seat. Officers arrived on scene and observed the described car parked near the air pump. The engine on the vehicle was running but was in park. The driver, later identified as Brandon Meriwether, was passed out in the driver's seat. Officers observed Meriwether to be profusely sweating on his face and arms. Officers began shaking the vehicle to the point Meriwether was being moved around inside the vehicle. He did not respond or wake up. Officers began yelling and knocking on the windows and Meriwether continued not to respond. Officers believed Meriwether may have been having a medical emergency and the rear passenger side window was broken out. Even after the window was broken out, Meriwether did not react. Officers unlocked the vehicle and performed a sternum rub on Meriwether which was somewhat effective. AMR was called to the scene to evaluate Meriwether. He refused medical treatment and AMR advised he was able to answer all of their questions. Meriwether became more responsive and coherent as he woke up. He stated that he was tired and parked in the lot and fell asleep. Officers could not smell the odor of alcohol coming from him. Meriwether gave officers consent to search his vehicle and nothing in the vehicle was located to indicate drug use. His vehicle was parked and he was advised to have someone pick him up.
