Officers were dispatched to 1817 Old Business 41 (Esquire Inn) in regard to a harassment report. Upon arriving, I met with the victim. The victim advised that the offender is an old friend that he met in prison months ago. Since they were released from prison, the offender has been treating the victim poorly. The victim advised that the offender does not know how to talk to people and is always insulting him, destroying their friendship. The victim considered the offender more of an acquaintance at this time.  The offender arrived at the Esquire Inn to speak with the victim at approximately 1600. The victim advised that he was treated poorly again by the offender, so the victim told him to leave the property. The victim refused to leave and continued to argue with the victim. At one point, the victim advised that the offender was taunting him to come down from the balcony in front of 225 and fight him. The offender even threatened, "I`m going to find you tonight when you go to work and I am going to f you up." The offender eventually left after the victim armed himself with a baseball bat in fear that the offender would attempt to attack him.  The victim was provided with a case number for his reference, was told to follow up with the Prosecutor`s office for the charges, and was advised how to obtain a protective order. The victim was also informed to call the 911 if the offender returned to start additional problems.		EAGLESON, R. C.

Tot.Est.Loss: $11. V1 stated she was working at Liquor Locker, when an intoxicated male came into the store. The male went over to where packs of Fireball shooters were located and picked up the box. The male dropped the box, before picking it up again. The male then ran out the door without paying. V1 stated she went outside to get the alcohol, when the male threatened to shoot her (she was in fear for her life). The male reached for the pack of alcohol, when the male struck V1 in the left shoulder with a closed fist. The male then left on foot. Officers located the male with AMR at Kerth and Virginia. Officers walked over to the male and placed in handcuffs as the smell of alcohol rolled off his person. The male with slurred speech, then threatened to kill the officer. He also stated that he would assault the officer. The male continued to provoke the officer as they await the transport wagon and another officer to speak with V1. The officer driving the wagon arrived. The male began to thrash his body around. Officers laid him on his side and then on his stomach. The male began to grab the officer`s hand and squeeze tightly as he thrashed on the ground. The male stated he would calm down and was sat on his buttock. The male then began to thrash his body again and was actively resisting as he pulled away from the officer controlling him. Officers brought V1 over to the area where the male was sitting and she positively identified the male. A spit mask was placed on the male and he was walked to the wagon. As officers searched the male, the male began pulling away from officers attempting to square up on an officer. The male was placed in the wagon and transported to VCCC. Once at VCCC the male was placed in the restraint chair. The male was charged on multiple charges.
