Reported: 08/19/2021.  Officers were called to a person down. The reporter found a male sleeping in his son's black Chrysler Sebring. The male is only in his underwear.  Officers arrived and located the male (S1) in the vehicle. Officers knocked on the driver side window and gave commands for S1 to exit the vehicle. S1 stated he could not figure out how to exit the vehicle. One officer attempted to open the driver side door, but the door was locked. Another officer was able to open the unlocked passenger side door. The male stepped out of vehicle, in only his underwear, and was placed in handcuffs.  Officers smelled a strong smell of urine and observed a puddle of unknown liquid on the floor board of the vehicle. Officers observed the vehicle to have extensive damage throughout the interior of the vehicle. The damage was so extensive, that the vehicle may be totaled out. S1 tore the door paneling off, damned the convertible roof (soft top), and damaged much much more. Crime scene was called for pictures because the damage was so extensive.  S1 was read Miranda and stated he understood his rights. S1 stated he ingested methamphetamine yesterday (8/18/2021). S1 stated some how he ended up in the vehicle, but was unsure how. When asked how long he had been in the vehicle, S1 stated "days", when the owner of the vehicle confirmed it had only been a few hours. S1 was unsure of where he was at when officers arrested him (danger to himself).  S1 was transported to VCCC where he was booked in on multiple charges.		FAHSE, A. G.

Officer Farmer advised the offender of the Miranda Warning and the offender understood her rights but was initially hesitant to speak with us. The offender eventually told officers that her and her husband (involved other) got into a verbal argument while traveling east-bound on Columbia Street from Evans Avenue. The offender told officers that her husband then stopped the vehicle in the middle of the street and took off on foot. The offender originally told us that she was not driving the vehicle, but later changed her story. The offender advised she tried to move the vehicle out of the middle of the street and hit the CSX railroad crossing sign in the process, causing damage to it. CSX was notified of the crash. The offender then fled the scene following her husband, but was spotted by the witness walking on the railroad tracks. Officers spoke with the involved other on the phone, who advised he was trying to get away from the offender after their verbal argument, stated that he had to go to work, and refused to come back to the scene. Officers ran the offender`s name and date of birth in the Indiana BMV database and learned that she had been operating a motor vehicle on a regular identification-only card. Officers wrote the offender two citations for fleeing the scene of a hit and run, as well as driving without ever receiving a license. The offender was released from the scene.		FARMER, A. C.
