Schedule I, II, III, IV, V	dispute off Columbia and Baker for the last forty minutes or so. The reporter stated it is the home on the corner. The reporter stated there is a female outside screaming at someone inside the home. Officers arrived in the area and spoke to a female standing near the intersection. The female stated there was a woman at the address earlier causing "drama". The female stated the woman went north on Baker. Officers began to check the local park at Baker and Maryland. Upon arrival to the park, officers spoke to two people. Officers concluded the people were not the woman officers were looking for. Officers then observed a woman in a black jacket head northwest through and alley. Officers attempted to catch up to the woman, but were unable to locate her. Officers continued to search for the female, but were unsuccessful (she continued to avoid officers). Officers went available from the run and put themselves on another run. As officers were in route to their next run, they observed a white female in a black jacket attempting to conceal her face. Officers were told the woman they were looking for had two confirmed misdemeanor warrants out of Vanderburgh County. Officer turned around their mark patrol vehicle and attempted to stop the woman, who took off running west bound from officers in full uniform. Officers quickly placed their vehicle in park and began to give chase. Officers yelled "police, stop", but the female continued to run west bound on Louisiana, before turning north on Harriet. The woman then took a quick right and ran into a tree blocking her exit. Officers gave the female commands to get on her stomach and she did so. After placing the female in handcuffs, she began to try to pull away from officers. Officers informed her they were not ready for her to stand and she was told to roll back on her stomach. The female was then told to stand and she was walked to the intersection of Harriet and Louisiana, where other officers arrived on scene. As officers went to search the female incident to arrest, she began to reach in her right jacket pocket multiple times. Officers located paraphernalia and a green and brown leafy substance. The 1.4 grams of green and brown leafy substance later tested positive for synthetics using NARK II 23A and 23B for synthetics. The woman also informed officers she ingested methamphetamine earlier in the day. The woman was sweating profusely and was verbally aggressive with officers throughout the entire encounter. The woman later lunged at officers when at VCCC. While officers were waiting on the transport wagon, the female began to scream on scene. The female was asked to be quiet as officers observed multiple people stop and stare at the female. There were also people coming out of their homes to see what was happening. The female continued to scream until she arrived at VCCC in the transport wagon. Once at VCCC, the female was booked in on warrants and multiple charges.
