Dispatch advised that a neighbor was throwing things at the RP`s husband and was swinging her purse at him. According to the RP, the offender even threatened to mace them. Officers arrived on scene and spoke with both parties. The dispute was entirely because the neighbor is upset that the victim and RP use her driveway to back up into their own driveway when they are parking. The victim showed officers video camera footage that showed the victim`s vehicle had never entered the offender`s driveway. The victim then showed officers video of the neighbor swinging a bag of groceries and striking them with it and her purse. We asked if we could see the papers in order to determine what papers they were. He allowed me to retrieve the papers from underneath the scooter seat. I located several pieces of paper stapled together that, through my experience, appeared to be a signed protective order. I looked over the paperwork and it was a protective order signed by Judge Trockman. The case number for the protective order is 82D02-2410-PO-6223. In the Judge's order, on the last page, one of the points was that Thomas was to have no contact (direct or indirect) with Kempf. November 19th was their next scheduled court date. I was made aware of texts that were exchanged between Kempf and Thomas. I was told by other officers that he sent her texts after receiving his protective order. I asked Thomas if it was okay to see his phone to verify the texts he sent her. He said I could look at the texts and he assisted me in unlocking his cellphone. He told me what application he uses and how to find it on his phone. He told me what text messages were shared between Kempf and himself. On 10/23, sometime in the morning, Kempf asks Thomas if he has been served yet. He replies the following morning (10/24) asking her what she meant and if she meant a protective order. A few hours later, around 1030, he sends her text messages claiming the statements she made in the protective order were a lie, and he was not leaving until the judge makes him leave on the 19th (November). Officer Roberts told me that he saw the same text messages on Kempf's phone. Thomas was placed in the back of my police cruiser and transported to VCCC. Thomas, while en route to VCCC, stated he did not understand why he was going to jail. He stated he was not told he had to pack up and leave right away. I explained to Thomas that he was not going to jail for being on the property (earlier). I told him he was going to jail because one of the points, in the judges order, was to not have contact with Kempf. The text messages show that he looked at the protective order. He stated it was not read to him by a law enforcement officer. I asked Thomas if he could read and he stated he could. Thomas was booked into VCCC for the listed charge.	Incident Rpt Misc (C), at 2309 E Tennessee St, Evansville, IN, between 17:00, 10/24/2024 and 17:35, 10/24/2024. Reported: 10/24/2024.
